

Abstract

A device for adjusting the valve lift (1) of the valves of a combustion engine comprising a lever (3) being driven by a camshaft (4), pushed against the cam-5 shaft (4) by a spring, which cooperates with at least one valve engagement means and is positioned by a positioning means (6).